Looking Forward and Reflecting Back: Celebrating Ten Years of Research on Food Access and Food Security at the Center for Research in Nutrition and Health Disparities

Friday, September 27th

2:00 PM – 3:00 PM

Discovery I, Room 140

In celebration of the Center's 10th anniversary, a reception will follow.

The Center for Research in Nutrition and Health Disparities was founded at the Arnold School of Public Health in 2003 and is celebrating its 10th anniversary. In this talk, Dr. Angela D. Liese will reflect on the development of the field of food access and food security research, which has become a focal area of activities for the Nutrition Center and its Affiliated Scholars. Dr. Liese has been involved in the Nutrition Center since its inception and has served as the director of the Center from 2008 through 2013.

Dr. Liese is a Professor of Epidemiology in the Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics at the Arnold School and her research interests include methods and applications of nutritional epidemiology with a focus on issues of food access and food assistance.

This is a free seminar and all faculty, staff and students and guests are welcome to attend.
